Services were conducted at the Mount Carmel church by Rev. Mr. Sing, after which the remains were removed to the Foster burial ground for interment.
The busy season is about over. Farmers have been taking advantage of the fine weather to gather in their crops. The apple pickers, Mr. Brown's men from Wellington, have left after completing their work to the entire satisfaction of all. They shipped a large quantity of apples from the section. H. Carman is the largest exporter, netting six hundred dollars on his crop.

NAPANESE MILLS.

Oct. 27.—The long continued drought is beginning to be severely felt. Springs and wells are going dry every where.
John Jackson, tax collector for Camden, had an experience Saturday evening last. He will not forget during the remainder of his life. Driving toward home north of this place near Lott's corner his horse suddenly began to kick and run. Mr. Jackson held on to the reins, but seemed to have no effect on the brute and when he reached the turn in the road the vehicle upset, throwing him violently to the ground. When found he was insensible he was conveyed to the residence of Mrs. Lott, where his wounds were cared for. When fully recovered, Rev. E. D. Woodcock kindly drove him home and summoned the doctor. He received several cuts and bruises about the head, especially the face, it is understood he will be around in a few days. The horse was captured without doing much damage.
Wm. Thompson injured his ankle while working in the clay pit. Dr. Beaman was summoned and drove to the pit, and, taking the injured man in his carriage, drove him to his house and dressed the injured limb. A small boy was broken down by the horse.

F. G. B. Allan is convalescent, and expects to leave for Toronto shortly. His sister, Mrs. Vernon, is still with him.
Mrs. A. Clement, ill so long with consumption, is sinking fast; she is extremely weak and cannot get on her feet. This is a very sad case. She is just in the prime of life, of a fine intellect, the mother of three children and her home has been one of the happiest in the place. It seems so very sorrowful this home should be broken up.

The recent discovery of natural gas by Mr. Collins while drilling for water has created a widespread interest. Toronto, October 31.—The body of John Hutton, 39 years of age, lies in the City Morgue to-night, and James Hutton, aged 60, his father, is under arrest, charged with having murdered him. The murder was committed in a small tailor shop at the corner of King and Victoria streets. Here the accused and his son made up garments for various city clothing establishments. He also has a comfortable private custom. The father and son were sitting on the same table sewing. The latter's wife was working at a machine with her back to him. The father, a friend of the family, was also present. The younger Hutton, according to his widow, went Black out for a quarter of eight o'clock. While Black was absent the son handed his father a coat to be pressed, telling him to hurry with it. The man, who had been striking heavily during the day, took offense at the manner in which his son had spoken to him, and according to his father, he started to strike him. The father, who made no attempt to escape, was arrested and taken to police headquarters. He is now under the influence of liquor, and was seemingly in a violent humor.

CHEAP, BUT COMMODIOUS.

A Henery that Will House a Large Number of Fowls.
Those who wish a plan for a cheap and commodious henery that will if necessary accommodate a large number of fowls will be interested in one just completed by a practical poultryman. The drawing of the building shows the north and west sides. The building is 16 by 20 feet, 16 feet high to roof peak. Fig. 2 represents the inside of the building as follows: C, roosting and general room; B, eggroom, feedroom, etc.; A, A, A are nests. In the recess there are three rows of nests, one above the other; 5, door opening from outside building; 6, door opening from feedroom to recess, nest boxes and roosting room. Fig. 3, nest boxes, 18 by 20 inches. These boxes are all movable for arranging to suit circumstances. By raising a board, hinged, one can readily examine the nests from the feed or egg room. Should a hen wish to sit, take out one of the nest boxes, turn it end for end, thereby placing the end that is closed up in the roosting room, which prevents the other hens from bothering or annoying her. It is so arranged that the sitting hen can go out in a little yard, scratch and dust without any inconvenience or annoyance from the others. The egg or feed room has shelves in it and a loft (which is reached by a ladder made fast up the side) where the feed is kept. Fig. 4 represents the roosts, two feet apart, with the same slant as the roosts, but placed two feet away from the roost. The droppings, falling on these boards, roll down into a trough at the lower end, as shown. In the east side of the house is one large sliding window and in the south side two, with wire fenders or screens over all three. A building of this size and kind can accommodate 200 chickens with ample room.

Watch the Poultry.

When fowls are judiciously fed, made to take exercise and their quarters kept clean and free from lice, there is comparatively no trouble with sickness, except in cases of contagion.

When the combs and wattles of the fowls are of a bright red color, it indicates a condition of health.

When the fowls are busy scratching, the hens laying and singing and the cocks crowing, these are signs of good health.

When you can enter the henhouse after dark and hear no wheezing, it proves there are not any rumpy fowls in the flock.

When the edge of the comb and wattles is of a purplish red and the movements sluggish, there is something wrong.

When fowls lie around, indifferent to their surroundings, they are too fat, and death from apoplexy, indigestion or liver complaint will result unless the trouble is corrected.

When the fowls are restless and constantly scratching their feathers, they are infested with vermin.

When young poultry, especially ducklings, appear to have a sore throat and swallowing is difficult, it is the symptom of the large gray lice on the neck.

As soon as a fowl gets sick isolate it and commence doctoring it at once. The trouble with far too many is that they wait until the disease is in its advanced stages before giving medicine. A very sick fowl is difficult to cure, and when cured it is seldom of much service.

DUCK FARMING.

Made of Hatching and Rearing on a Great Poultry Estate.
Mr. William H. Pye of Long Island sends more ducks to the New York market this year than any other raiser. There are more than 10,000 ducks on his place at Eastport, and their capacity for food is about two tons a day. "Talk about summer boarders," said Mr. Pye, referring to the occupation of several of his neighbors. "I guess my feathered boarders are harder than the other kind to keep fed. It keeps me carting grain and meat pretty steadily. We give them chopped up sweet corn for green food and a kind of water grass which grows here. I have a man who spends his whole time fishing, too, to provide a change of diet for the ducks, but he doesn't get enough to feed many. We give what fish we have to the ducklings. It is very good for them—makes them grow and keeps them strong."

Last year Mr. Pye shipped 18,000 ducks to market. This year he has raised 19,000, and the hatching season, which begins about Feb. 1, was over until the end of August. The hatching is done partly by means of incubators, of which Mr. Pye has a large number, and partly by hens, which have the reputation of being better at sitting than the ducks. Besides, the latter are more valuable for laying purposes. Comparing the achievement of the hens and the incubators, Mr. Pye gives the preference to the former with much decision. The natural, old-fashioned method seems still the best, a smaller proportion of the hen hatched ducklings being lost than of the others. The hens have prejudices of their own as to the time which ought to be devoted to hatching, and they do not approve of sitting for the four weeks necessary to bring out young ducks. Consequently they have to be forced in upon their nests, which are not permitted to leave only for a short time each day.

Each day's hatching is put into a separate pen. This accounts for the great number of pens and facilitates the selection for shipping by having the birds all in lots according to their respective ages. About two months from the time he steps out of his shell the duck is ready for market, so that the first shipments are made about April 1. From that time on the birds are shipped regularly until late in the fall. This year Mr. Pye will keep sending them until December. Last week he sent about 1,000. They all go to Washington market, but a large proportion of them are not sold in New York. They are bought up by the season's companies in great quantities, and many of them are sold to the proprietors of summer hotels near the city. Mr. Pye's ducks weigh from 5 to 6 1/2 pounds each, and each bird is worth about 85 cents. In the spring the price is sometimes 35 or 40 cents a pound. The expenses of such a farm are heavy, some aggregating $50 a day, so it is necessary to sell largely in order to make good profits. The loss owing to sickness among the stock is small, averaging being only 6 per cent this season.

The ducks are all dry picked, and the task of removing the feathers is a laborious one. It gives work to about 14 girls of the neighborhood for three days in each week. These girls receive 5 cents for each duck that they pick, and this system of "piecework" succeeds in stimulating the pickers' exertions so remarkably that the feathers fly briskly all day long. Some girls are so expert as to make $3 a day, and one small child has frequently earned from $1 to $1.50. The feathers are excellent for stuffing pillows and are gathered into large bags and sold after the busy part of the duck shipping season is over. Formerly the money which the feathers brought exactly paid for the picking. But this season the price of feathers has come down until those on one bird are worth only 3 1/2 cents.

The White Chinese Goose.

The White Chinese goose was introduced into England some years since by Alfred White and brought this country by John Giles of Connecticut. It is of a spotless white, more swan-like than the brown variety, with a bright orange colored bill and a large orange colored knob at its base. It is particularly beautiful in the club, in or out of the water, its neck long, slender and gracefully arched when swimming. It breeds three or four times in a season.

Preserved Eggs.

A chemist has announced that he has discovered a method of treating eggs so that they will not spoil, and he asserts that in the future drinks in which eggs are used will be mixed with eggs chemically preserved. Eggs have been manufactured by artificial means so cleverly that it was difficult to tell them from the real article, but the discovery of this remarkable method of preserving eggs alleges that he is the first man in the field to succeed. Nearly all of the small soda water districts have been found through the thickly populated New York districts save egg phosphate during the summer months, and it occasionally happens that an egg of the sick fowl gets mixed with a 7987 phosphate, with results that are disastrous to the soda water proprietor. The inventor of the new method believes that his eggs will do more than the police to keep the peace during the summer months in these soda water districts. Thus far he has made no explanation of his new invention, but he alleges that it has been thoroughly tested and found satisfactory.

SLOAN'S INDIAN TONIC

The Only Permanent Cure for Indigestion

This is to certify that I James Ross, Tollgate Keeper, of the Town of Woodstock, Ont., have been a sufferer from indigestion and a very weak stomach for a number of years and have tried a great many medicines of different kinds, but could only obtain temporary relief for a short time, but after using one bottle of Sloan's Indian Tonic I could perceive a great difference. My indigestion was better and my stomach was much stronger than before, and I found I had gained several pounds in flesh, where I was weak and thin in flesh before. I think I used nine or ten bottles in all, and I am now a healthy man, but still I do not want to be without the medicine in the house, and I procure one or two bottles every year, and I can truthfully recommend Sloan's Indian Tonic to others suffering from the same complaint.

Price $1, 6 for $5. All dealers or address THE SLOAN MEDICINE COMPANY, OF HAMILTON, (LTD.)

A Widow's Struggle.

HARD WORK BROUGHT ON A SEVERE ILLNESS.

SRIVIOUS PROSTRATION, DIZZINESS AND PAIN.

PINK PILLS CAME TO HER RESCUE.

AFTERHOSPITAL TREATMENT FAILED.

IN THE TOWN OF FORT WILLIAM LIVES A BEAWE WIDOW, WHO FOR YEARS HAS BEEN CONSTANTLY LIT UP BY THE WOLF OF THE NIGHT.

From morning till night she toiled to provide comforts for her loved ones until nature at last protested against such a constant drain on her strength, and so she began to lose health.

Soon the slender frame became emaciated, the eyes grew dim, and the poor mother was at last forced to give up the unequal contest, and become a burden where she had once been the chief support.

Her chest, heart disease, consumption, and other names were given to her malady by local physicians, but months passed, during which she suffered untold agony, without finding any relief from her sufferings.

Palpitation of the heart, dizziness, extreme pain in the chest, loss of appetite and nervousness were some of the symptoms of the disease, gatherings that caused excruciating pain formed at the knee joints and other parts of the body, and at last she became perfectly helpless and unable to move.

At this stage she was advised to enter the hospital, that she might have the benefit of skilled nurses as well as best medical treatment.

So she entered, but after a few days she found that she was not getting any relief from the poor woman gave up all hope of recovery and asked to be taken home. So she was discharged.

She became that her friends were shocked at her appearance, and so utterly hopeless was her condition that it was like a death sentence.

What then was the astonishment of all who had known her dreadful condition, to hear that she had at last found a remedy, whose magical power at once demonstrated the fact that where there is life there is hope.

The name of this remedy was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking five boxes she was able to walk about and visit her friends.

Highly gratified, she gradually but surely returned and in a few months from the time she began using the medicine she was able to resume her former life.

This great remedy enriches and purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, and in this way goes to the root of the disease, driving from the system, and curing when other remedies fail.

Every box of the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has the trade mark on the wrapper around the box, and the purchaser can protect himself from imposition by refusing all others. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.—Fort William Journal.

WRECK ON THE G. T. R.

Iroquois, Ont., October 27.—A big smash-up occurred at this station, which is on the Grand Trunk main line, at an early hour this morning.

A heavy loaded freight train broke in two a short distance west of here. The engine, with the forward part of the train, pulled into the station, and began to back up.

Back after wards and bring in the remainder of the train. To the surprise of all the rearward section of the train, coming towards the station at a high rate of speed, there being considerable down grade. Before the forward part of the train could get back into the station, the rearward section, which was the objective point of the collision, came into the station at a high rate of speed.

Twenty grain-laden cars are in a badly damaged condition; their contents being scattered along the track for a considerable distance. It seems as if every third car was telescoped in to the one in front of it. But few were derailed. The rear brakeman was killed, and the train conductor was injured. A thick fog making it impossible to see two car lengths ahead. He had a narrow escape from death. A large wrecking crew has arrived at the station, and will probably have the line clear this afternoon.

NEWS FROM ST. KITS.

E. J. MURSON JR. SINGS THE PRAISES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS—HE WAS HIDDEN FOR MONTHS AND HIS STRENGTH WAS SAPPED BY DIABETES—HE FOUND HIS CURE IN SIX BOXES OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

St. Catharines, Nov. 1.—For several months E. J. Mursion, Jr., one of the most capable painters in the city, was confined to his bed, a sufferer from the terrible disease—diabetes. The complaint sapped his strength, fed up on his muscles, and reduced him to a skeleton almost. Then, providentially, he heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. He bought six boxes. This is what he says of their work: "After using the first box, I could lift light weights. After the second three boxes, and now I am well. I have tried many other medicines, and none of them did me any good. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

TROUBLESOME INDIANS.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 26.—Reports from all parts of the state are that the troublesome Canadian Cree Indians, who occasioned so much correspondence between the two governments a few days ago, are now being driven back to Canada, having been returned, and are more troublesome than ever.

The game that are protected by the state killing cattle on the ranches and ranching, but so far no action has been taken, but so far no action has been taken to deal with the troublesome Indians.

AN UNTRIED CANADIAN WILDERNESS.

The vast country north of the Gulf of St. Lawrence is, to the uncomprehending explorer, the most interesting region of the continent. If not in the world. For nearly four centuries the ships of cultivation have sailed by it, but except the fishery trade, there has been no intrusion upon it.

The rivers which pour forth every day into the Gulf, have been the back country, the network of lakes and water courses. Ask the commissioner of crown lands of the great province of Quebec, today, what his department knows of that region, and he will tell you that it is the least known part of the North America; that only a few of the lakes have been surveyed; that two exploring parties have recently crossed the peninsula; that a handful of fishermen have feigned the Gulf; that for the rest of the wandering Montanians Indians are the only tourists who traverse half a million square miles of territory. Steamers go up the Saguenay, Lake St. John is not reached by rail. But away to the north is the tremendous tract of country, from whence issue streams greater than the Hudson, the headwaters of which no white man has ever seen.—Scribner's Magazine.

A BANKER'S EXPERIENCE.

I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Marshmallows and a penitence for a troublesome affection of the throat. I write Manager Thomas Dewson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourn Avenue, London, England, effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. I had hitherto been my habit to consult a physician, but I was tired of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

Toronto, Oct. 27.—There are difficulties in the way of fixing a stated price on sugar.

THE LONG AGO.

Alone I sit in the shadowy room. Soft lit by the pale moonlight. And I close my eyes and dream a dream Of the Long Ago, tonight.

Once more I walk with my girlhood friend Through the falling autumn leaves. Once more her sweet voice floats to me O'er the quiet evening breeze.

And we wander on in the clear moonlight, And life seems as it were a dream. And she hums a tune in her childish way As we merrily move along.

With a laugh we meet in the soft moonlight, And I laugh and say "Good night." Our spirits are all in a merry mood, And our laugh conceals no sigh.

And for the moment I forget, As I dream of the Long Ago, That over the grave of my fair young friend The daisies and grasses blow.

But her spirit is hovering near me In the shimmering soft moonlight. And I claim a place my heart I know For the friend of my youth to night.

GAINED VERY MUCH.

EXCITING ADVENTURE.

A remarkable story comes from Caribou, Me., of an exciting adventure, which befell one Peter Piopere, a young farmer and hunter in the region known as the White River, Canada. It seems that Piopere started out with a company of young farmers for a day's hunt. An eagle's nest on the top of a hill was his objective point of the expedition, and the intention was to capture the eagles that were known to him to create a nest. Each man wore heavy leather gloves and bore in his hand a bludgeon, and Piopere carried a rope. The attacking party advanced without any mishap upon the enemy, and after a short fight, in which blood was spilled on both sides, succeeded in tying the birds close to claw. The rope was passed to Piopere, who sat down on the cord to hold the birds still. Suddenly the birds screamed and spread their wings, and Piopere felt the rope going up. He was in a dangerous position. From the edge of the rock where he stood the mountain ran off in a precipice to the valley, a quarter of a mile away. He called for help, and the men made a rush for him. The eagles saw the men coming, and with a shrill scream rose in the air and sailed off into the valley, the rope taut between them and poor Piopere, hanging for life. Piopere is a good athlete, and had sense enough to swing both legs over the rope, and make a safe hold for himself. The eagles flew off, strong but low, as his weight was too much for them. After having gone for thirty miles at a rate, so it was discovered afterward, of forty miles an hour, Piopere's muscles were lame and sore from long tension that he thought his end had come. The birds, however, were losing power, too, and just over the Town Hall at Frenchville they came to the ground, where Piopere tied them in a friend's barn and "watered" them. The eagles are still in the possession of Piopere, the rest of the party having voted them to him unanimously. He expects to give an exhibition of them at his home later.—The Independent.

The World's Favorites for Dyeing Light, Medium and Heavy Goods.

Dyeing Dyes do a range of work far beyond the possibilities of soap grease and crude vegetable dyes. The compounds on the market are deceptive in character and composition; they are made to sell, not to give guaranteed satisfaction. The majority of the dyes of soap grease and crude vegetable dyes are so weak that they will hardly stain the hands. Diamond Dyes give colors to light, medium and heavy material, and are as fast as a rock, and last as long as the goods hold together. The heaviest tweeds and cloths can be dyed with Diamond Dyes. ## HENRY GEORGE DEAD.

CARRIED OFF IN THE MIDST OF THE ELECTION.

Electioneering Was Too Great a Strain on His Nervous System—Died of Apoplexy—Sketch of His Career.

New York, Oct. 29.—Mr. George died late last night after addressing several large meetings. His room No. 42, was on the first floor of the Union Square hotel. Mr. George was with him. About three o'clock this morning Mr. George was awakened by the convulsive movements of her husband. He was moaning faintly. She immediately rang the bell, and night clerk A. Warner responded. He sent for a doctor to West 84th street. It was over ten minutes before the doctor arrived. Henry George, Jr., who occupied a room on the second floor, was hastily called. He hurried to the bedside of his dying father. He, Mrs. George, and the doctor did all they could to save Mr. George, but despite their efforts he passed away at five o'clock. He died with a smile on his face. Mr. George was not an old man in the matter of years, but he was never robust. He was an extremely sensitive

Sketch of His Career.

Henry George was born on September 2nd, 1839. He received a common school education, and then went into a counting-room. He was also a sailor, and learned the printer's trade.

In 1858 he reached California, where he worked at the printer's can until 1860, when he became a reporter, and afterwards an editor, working at different times on the San Francisco Times and Post. He returned to New York in 1860, and went to England and Ireland the following year, where he was twice arrested as a suspect, but afterwards released when his identity was ascertained.

Mr. George is best known to the world at large through his writings upon economic questions, notably his work entitled "Progress and Poverty," published in 1879. His other works are: "Our Land and Land Policy" (1871); "Irish Land Question" (1881); "Social Problems" (1889); "Progress in Land" a controversy with the Duke of Argyll (1884); "The Condition of Labor," an open letter to Pope Leo XIII. (1891); and "A Perplexed Philosopher" (Herbert Spencer, 1892).

In 1886 Mr. George was nominated by the United Labor party for Mayor of New York, polling 88,000 votes, against 90,000 for Abraham S. Hewitt, the Democratic nominee, and 60,000 for Theodore Roosevelt, the Republican nominee. He was also Secretary of the Navy (Republican).

The public library to be built in New York city will cost about $1,700,000, exclusive of heating lighting and all interior equipment, and will measure 230 by 340 feet. Among the various accommodations to be provided is a library for the blind, the room accommodating twenty readers.

WEDDING BELLS.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lambert, Sophiasburgh, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 29th, a very pretty wedding took place in the marriage of their daughter, I. D. Noxon, (named after her grandfather, the late Isaac D. Noxon) to John Doreland Foster. The bride was attended most charmingly, as attested by all, and the groom seemed at his best. The venerable Rev. David Wilson, an old favorite pastor, performed the ceremony. The reverend gentleman seemingly appeared to be inspired with the spirit of his more youthful days. The guests numbered up to about a hundred, and were from the east, west, north and south, friends and relatives. After the usual congratulations on such an occasion the guests were invited into the dining room where the tables were tastefully adorned with flowers and edibles of the most abundant, varied, palatable and tempting kind. All seated, the blessing pronounced when the busy serving ones were on full duty; an enjoyable feast it was, indeed, and good cheer rang through the house from room to room. The presents to the bride to say the least were numerous, essential, fancy, rich, grand, costly a well merited compliment to the bride. The bridal party left that evening amid showers of flowers and good wishes for a trip eastward to New York and other Atlantic cities.—Piston Times.

ARCHBISHOP CLERGY.

Under the heading, "Men of the Day," the Globe gave this sketch of Archbishop Cleary, of this diocese: "James Vincent Cleary, D. D., Archbishop of Kingston, was born in Dungan, a seaport town in the county of Waterford, Ireland, on September 18, 1828, and is a son of Thos. Cleary. He received his elementary education in a select private school in his native town, and at the age of fifteen was sent to Rome to receive his ecclesiastical education. After two years in Rome he was recalled to Ireland, and then spent five years in the Royal College of Maynooth, near Dublin. After being ordained as a priest he spent two years in the University of Salamanca, Spain, being then called home to occupy the chair of dogmatic theology in St. John's college, Waterford; in 1872 he was elevated to the Presidency of the College. Three years later he was promoted to the living of Dungan, his native parish, where he subsequently took an active interest in politics, and with the united action of his parish succeeded in electing the National candidate. In 1880 he received an order from the Holy See appointing him Bishop of Kingston. On the ground of ill-health he appealed against the order, but to no avail, so that after consecration at Rome he came to his new charge, where he was given a magnificent reception."

One satisfaction in giving Scott's Emulsion to children is they never object to it. The fact is, they soon become fond of it. Another satisfaction is because it will make them plump, and give them growth and prosperity. It should be given to all children who are too thin, or too pale. It does not make them over-fat, but plump.

It strengthens the digestive organs and the nerves, and furnishes material for rich blood.

Football.

The Napane Collegiate Institute football club has entered a protest against the result of the game played with Pictou at Deseronto recently. The Napane club was not given a fair chance to win, and the result was a disgrace to the game.

The estate of the late Mrs. Rombough, of Napanee, is being fought about in the law courts at Osgoode Hall. By the first clause Jacob gets a $200 acre farm; by the second James becomes the owner of the village lot; by the third the entire estate real and personal, is to be divided equally between the sons, and by the fourth and last James is to get all the land and buildings, and is to get the take straightened out by the courts. The estate is valued at $5,000.—Toronto News.

Thoroughly Grateful.

MR. STEPHEN BELISLE GRADLY TELLS HOW HE WAS CURED.

AFTER OTHER REMEDIES FAILED TO HELP HIM, DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS MADE HIM A HEALTHY MAN.

Down on William street, the bulk of the business of the country is done, and it is there that the Montreal cold storage and freezing company's manufacturing is located. In the summer time, when extensive shipments are being made, the big black is a veritable beehive. Several well known exporters have their warehouses in this building and one of them is Wm. T. Ware & Co.

Their head house man is Mr. Stephen Belisle, who, as his name indicates, is a French-Canadian and in the prime of life.

Over the years, however, the face of the earth to-day that man is Stephen Belisle. After suffering innumerable agonies for several months, he is now the picture of health and feels that it is his duty to tell all the world how he was restored to health and how he feels about the medicine.

NEVERMORE

(From Printer's Ink, with Apologies to Eminent Allan Poe)

Once upon a midday dreary
 While I pondered weak and weary
 Over many an unpaid bill from creditors
 And I thought, while nearly frantic,
 "I will cross the broad Atlantic
 And the duns, so importunate,
 I'll escape forevermore."

On this thought my mind was centered,
 And into the chamber entered
 A young man whose business bearing
 And firm tread upon the floor,
 "I will cross the broad Atlantic,"
 And from him I tried to borrow Money, that the crisis once again I might Escape forevermore.

Not to my appeal he listened,
 But his diamond shirt studs glistened
 To the sunlight, as he calmly looked me over
 And this sentence then he uttered,
 "Never stopped and never started:
 'Why not advertise to-morrow
 All the gods within your store?'"

"I will give you out of column,
 And of trade they have a volume,
 That at once from every corner of the town
 To you will pour."

To your till will cash be added,
 All your debts and burdens lifted,
 And this sentence then he uttered,
 "Never stopped and never started:
 'Why not advertise to-morrow
 All the gods within your store?'"

His advice was quickly taken,
 Doubt and misadventure cover columns
 And to-day my advertisements cover columns
 By the score

And each day my growing riches
 Fill the pockets of my little clerk,
 And from them I take the surplus
 And advertise the more

Perth, Ont., Nov. 22.—There were 200 boxes of cheese shipped from here to-day. This was the remainder of the cheese that was brought a few weeks ago at 8 1/2c to 8 3/4c. All cheese is now shipped from here.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Toronto, Nov. 23.—On the market this morning we had a total of 40 loads of offerings on sale; the run was a comparatively large one for this dull season, and as far as cattle was concerned the market was quite unchanged. Sheep and lambs were active and steady, while hogs are firmer and advancing.

We had a few loads of shipping cattle here, but scarcely any inquiry; a couple of loads were sold at $4.50 per 100 pounds, and there was nearly the best price fetched to-day.

There was no change in butcher cat. Steers and yearlings little choice still here, and 3 1/2c was occasionally paid for really good stuff, and for extra choice picked lots 3 1/2c was given. Around 30 and 3 1/2c a lot of good average cattle changed hands; for medium and common stuff the price was 2 1/2c to 2 3/4c per pound. Trade dragged, and some of the stuff was unsold.

Milk cows are steady and unchanged at from $22 to $23 each for ordinary, and from $19 to $20 for extra choice, with a demand for good cows. Lambs sell from 4 to 4 1/2c per pound; the trade was steady today, and good lambs are in active demand.

Paine's Celery Compound

Victorians Over Liver Troubles.

A Mighty Work After the Doctors Failed.

If proper treatment is not resorted to in time, the results of liver complaint are terrible, often ending in death.

Mr. McEae, of Guelph, Ont., suffered for nine long years from liver complaint. Her case baffled the skill of the physician, and she could do no more, and the sufferer was left almost hopeless. Hearing of Paine's Celery Compound she procured a supply and experienced returning health and vigor. The second bottle completely cured her. Mrs. McEae writes: "The benefit of this compound has been a great relief to me. I had been troubled with liver complaint, and often had very bad spells from it. Two years ago this spring I had a very bad attack of it, and called in a doctor who relieved me of the trouble, but I remained weak, and could neither eat nor sleep, and suffered much with my head. Then I procured a bottle of your Paine's Celery Compound, but before I had the contents used I could not eat and sleep well, and the pain in my head was completely gone. I took the second bottle, and have never been troubled with liver complaint since. Your compound has banished constipation which troubled me for many years, and has built me up and completely cured me. I am now 64 years old, and from what I know I consider your medicine the best on the market. Hoping that your valuable medicine will do for others what it has done for me, I sincerely wish.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

On Thursday morning Dr. Bissonette, coroner, was summoned to the residence of Father Hartigan, Centreville, on the occasion of the accidental shooting of Mary Ann Kelly, housekeeper for Father Hartigan, by Joseph Cowan, a lad about sixteen years of age, who was employed by the deceased on Wednesday evening 17th at about 9.30 p.m. Cowan, who is a bright, active, joking lad, was in the kitchen fooling with a gun, when he suddenly exploded, the charge lodging in the side of the unfortunate girl's head. Death ensued about 10 minutes on Thursday. The deceased was about 40 years of age. On learning the facts Dr. Bissonette did not consider an inquest necessary. —Napanee Star.

WOULD ANY SANE HOUSE-KEEPER USE OLEOMARGARINE?

DANGER IN ANOTHER DIRECTION.

Would any sane housekeeper in Canada buy oleomargarine or imitation butter instead of the finest production of the creamery or dairy? We think our Canadian women are twice as deceived in this important matter. Lard colored to resemble good butter will never be acceptable to our people.

There are, however, other deceptive agents that sometimes find their way into our homes; we refer to imitation and adulterated package dyes for home dealers, sold by imitations of the celebrated Diamond Dyes. The contents of these imitation packages carry ruin and disappointment to every user.

A few dealers, for the sake of long profits, are now selling soap dyes composed of a very large amount of common grease and a small quantity of coloring matter. Such dyes, after trial, have been found weak and unsatisfactory, giving dull and muddy colors fading quickly in washing and sunlight.

As millions of thrifty and experienced women already know, the Diamond Dyes are the only reliable home package dyes, having stood the tests of long years. Diamond Dyes are easy to use, and give brilliant and lasting colors that cannot be equalled by any other make.

VERDICT GUILTY.

Cuyaga, Ont., November 10.—Mrs. Eleanora Stearnman has been tried, found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on January 20th. The verdict was rendered this evening.

Justice Armour, charging strongly against the prisoner, his argument was almost identical with that of the Crown. He pointed out the same points, the letter, the concealment of the poison symptoms of which was emphasized, and the Canadian doctors, the suspicious death of her former husband, the arsenical symptoms and the arsenic in the body after death. The judge characterized the prisoner's conduct as heartless and flippant. The question of insurance was raised frequently. It was better, he said, if a motive was proved, but it was not necessary for a conviction.

The jury then retired, and about four hours later came back with a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy.

In response to the question as to whether she had anything to say Mrs. Stearnman said in a clear, calm voice: "I am not sorry that the eyes of God will have a new trial and I will be acquitted."

The judge said that he thoroughly concurred with the verdict, and then pronounced the sentence of the court. His voice quivered as he recited the solemn formula which ended: "And that you be taken to the place of execution, and there be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul."

"Oh, Judge," said Mrs. Stearnman, with a gasp, "there is no mercy in this and no pity."

The prisoner, in spite of her words, showed no deep emotion, and her countenance did not change color. After being removed to her cell, she repeated her assertions of a new trial and complained of the injustice of the court.

His Lordship told the jury that he would forward their recommendation to Ottawa.

Mr. German has applied for a reserve case for the prisoner, on the ground of the irrelevance of the Chipman evidence.

A number of witnesses were examined at the morning session.

A QUEEN CITY INCIDENT.

HOW A VALUABLE LIFE WAS SAVED—A STORY, THAT IS BECOMING QUITE COMMON NOW—COMMON SENSE ACTION PREVENTED DEATH.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—A well-known retired real estate broker, J. McPherson, 440 King Street West, this city, makes known another victory for Dodd's Kidney Pills, having received a new lease of life by their use. He states that he suffered greatly from the effects of a sluggish liver, and long train of attendant miseries. For months he doctored, using one so-called remedy after another, but getting no relief. He then tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. One box cured him. That is the story—the invariable story where these health-giving pills are used. The never-failing remedy for one unflinching conqueror of kidney and liver disease.

BIGGER LAKE MONSTERS.

The Bessemer Steamship Company, which is John D. Rockefeller's big line of lake steamers and tow-larges, has just ordered a contract for the three largest ships ever constructed for service on fresh water. As the big ships built for this line over a year ago were 475 feet over all, 152 feet keel, 30 feet beam, and twenty-nine and a half feet deep, exceeding in all dimensions anything now afloat on the lakes. The new boats will be 525 feet over all, 162 feet keel, 32 feet beam, and twenty-nine and a half feet deep. The capacity of the steamer will be 6,500 gross tons of cargo, 1,000 net. The boats will cost between five and six hundred thousand dollars. They will be equipped with everything modern for the rapid handling of cargoes and the economy in size only by the largest ocean greyhounds. The Bessemer Company is figuring with other builders for two more boats of the same displacement for future delivery.

D-O-C-O-S

THE PECULIARITIES OF THIS WORD.

No Name on Earth so Famous. No Name More Widely Imitated.

No name on earth, perhaps, is so well known more peculiarly constructed or more widely imitated than the word DODD. It possesses a peculiarity that makes it stand out prominently and fastens it in the memory. It contains four letters, but only two letters of the alphabet. Everyone knows that the first kidney remedy ever patented or sold in pill form was named DODD'S. This discovery started the medical profession the world over, and revolutionized the treatment of kidney diseases.

No inventor has ever succeeded in constructing a name possessing the peculiarity of DODD, though they have tried every name as similar as possible in sound and construction to this. This foolishness prevents them realizing that attempts to imitate involve the fame of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Why is the name "Dodd's Kidney Pills" imitated? As well ask why are diamonds the most precious gem, because they are the most valuable medicine the world has ever known.

No medicine was ever named kidney pills till Dodd's came into the world. Dodd's Kidney Pills to the world. No medicine ever cured Bright's disease except Dodd's Kidney Pills. No other medicine has cured any of the causes of Rheumatism, Diabetes, Heart Disease, Lumbago, Dropsy, Female Weakness, and other kidney diseases as Dodd's Kidney Pills have. It is universally known that they have never failed to cure these diseases hence they are so widely and shamelessly imitated.

TRADE PARADOXES.

How greatly the meat trade of England has altered in recent times is shown by the inauguration of the export of fresh meat (froze) from London to the Cape. The British Navy having lately been on board 1,500 tons of frozen (Queensland) beef, and 2,000 carcasses of River Plate mutton, for conveyance to Cape Town, the authorities of the Cape Colony are now in a state of confusion. The transaction is that, as reported by the Colonial Consignment Company, the meat could be purchased in England at a much lower price than in the Cape. The reduction, Beef at 1-4d per pound and mutton at 2-12d per pound, free on board, could not be supplied to the colonies, but was procurable at home.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 20.—United States superintendent of state prisons says that the present system of convict labor is a success, and that it renders the institutions self-sustaining. ### DECLINING A BULLDOG.

A Theatrical Stenographer Put It on the Same Plane as a Play.

There are stories plentiful, as are also fish tales, but here is a genuinely true story, vouched for by Manager Will J. Davis and myself. It is the story of a man who, in declining a bulldog, was cured of his troubles. In the summer Mr. Davis had a kennel of bulldogs which were unusual in size. He had remembered Mr. Rice visiting his farm in the Henry management, where he much admired all of Mr. Davis' canine family. He thought Mr. Rice would be pleased to have one of these bulldogs, so he forwarded one to New York city.

Mr. Rice while in New York lives in an apartment, and as a matter of fact, in New York are similar to those in Chicago the janitor protested against Mr. Rice having a dog in his room, and he did not know what to do with the pup, having no place to keep him, and yet not wishing to give it to any one else. He therefore thought it would be best to return it to Mr. Davis. He took the dog to the office and there had it packed for shipment. In the meantime he had requested the stenographer to write a polite letter to Mr. Davis, telling him the facts and expressing thanks and regrets. Now, in Mr. Rice's New York office they are in the habit of receiving numerous manuscripts of plays.

"Will you dictate this letter?" asked the stenographer.

"No. Go ahead and write it yourself. I am busy just now. With all the experience you have had you certainly should have been able to decline a bulldog without giving offense."

A few days later Mr. Davis received the following letter of explanation and thanks from Mr. Rice:

At first he could not comprehend his meaning. He, however, kept it and expected to have considerable amusement out of it at the expense of Mr. Rice:

DEAR SIR—We regret that we are compelled to decline the bulldog you so kindly submitted to us. We have carefully examined it and are sincerely sorry that it does not seem worthy for our use.

Of course you are aware that many considerations between quality must govern the acceptance of bulldogs. While persons have a particular bulldog does not necessarily imply that it is lacking in merit.

This and a hundred other reasons may cause the rejection of any offered bulldog without faulting the quality of the animal. The simple fact of refusal, therefore, does not carry with it any adverse judgment as to the excellence of the bulldog, but it is our statement that it cannot be used at the present time. Thank you for your courtesy in submitting same and remain, very truly yours,

WILL J. DAVIS.

THE EXTRAORDINARY MAN.

It is the extraordinary man who makes life bearable. The ordinary man is no constant under restraint that everything he does is commonplace and uninteresting. To illustrate this point I am going to give an exact report of what happened on a Broadway car one day last week. A hurry man got up to get off the car. In walking from the front end to the back he skillfully and unobtrusively stepped on every foot that was in evidence. Every one on both sides of the car grabbed his toes and cursed the brute, but no one did anything. Just as the fellow reached the back seat he carefully threw his full weight on both the feet of an athletic looking gentleman who was standing on the platform reading the paper. A moment later he landed on the result of a result of a vicious and correctly applied kick that increased his velocity to an unexpected extent. Rushing back to the car he yelled: "My mister, what do you mean by kicking me like that?"

"Did I kick you?" inquired the man who was reading the paper naively.

"You know black and white well that you did."

"Well," drawled the man with the paper, "when I make a man step on one of my feet it doesn't make any particular difference, but somehow when he steps on both of my feet it has a very peculiar effect on the floor muscles of my legs, and I act in an anomalous way. I have a general impression that you stepped on both of my feet, and that that is what caused the whole trouble. In future, when you happen to be getting off the car I am on, if you will be kind enough to step on only one foot there will be no danger of such an accident as this."

Just then the conductor rang the bell and the car started. Within the next five minutes every one had passed on the car, and the man who had been kicked by the gentleman who was reading the paper, he did exactly what they all felt like doing, but they were all too ordinary to do it. He was the extraordinary man. —New York Journal.

Farragut and the Torpedoes.

Because of their destructive character nothing is more demoralizing to an enemy than torpedoes, and the normal effect of being equipped for this kind of warfare is not to be depressed, especially where the object of a navy is, as it should be, to keep peace. Fear of torpedoes was all that prevented the French from entering the Prussian harbors during the Franco-Prussian war, and the Japanese from going up the river at Yalu. There was perhaps no cooler set of men during our late war than at Mobile, where Farragut, only a moment after the Tennessee had struck a torpedo and gone down before his eyes, shot forward with his flagship directly over the course where he knew the torpedoes had been planted for the destruction of his fleet, signaling, as he went, to the warning from the Brooklyn of "Torpedoes ahead." "Down the torpedoes!"

Captain Mahan, in his life of Farragut, writing of this passage of the Hartford over these torpedoes, says: "The cases of the torpedoes were heard by many, heard knocking against the copper of the bottom and many of the primers snapped audibly, but no torpedo exploded." Farragut's prompt action restored confidence to the fleet, but had any one of the torpedoes exploded all would have been over. —Benjamin Micou in North American Review.

Death in a Wheat Bin.

Oakville, Ont., Oct. 30.—A distressing accident occurred here this morning, whereby Willie, the sixteen-year-old son of David White, lost his life. The lad was a driver for Mr. John Wales, and had gone down to the latter's warehouse, where they were loading the schooner Straubenzweig with wheat. He had jumped over the bin while playing with some boys, and at that moment the chute was opened to load the car below. The spout carried him down, and before he could be rescued he disappeared in the 20-foot bin, containing a thousand bushels of grain. The body was taken out shortly afterwards.

SNOW BLINDNESS.

The Fearful Suffering It Entails Sometimes Leads to Madness.

Government officials who have been in Alaska tell of the terrible sufferings of snow blindness. The continued glare of the fields of snow and ice on the naked eye has an almost insupportable effect, say those who have experienced it. The vast expanse of gleaming white, the silence and the awful sense of isolation produce a feeling akin to madness.

First the eye becomes pained, watering, then it is inflamed and in front of the eyeballs, Mirages appear to the vision. The eyeballs burn, the mind wanders, the brain seems on fire, and finally blindness sets in. Perfect rest and freedom from anything which may be calculated to strain the vision are essential for a cure.

J. T. Dyer spent two years in Alaska and experienced the snow blindness. Speaking of it and the plague of mosquitoes which infect the northern regions and are perhaps more voracious there than elsewhere, he said:

"The snow blindness is an awful thing. I was affected slightly at one time with it in the month of our party who was suddenly afflicted with the trouble. He became violently insane from not properly shading his eyes. I never witnessed a more marked case of mania. We had great trouble in getting the young man back to camp. He got hold of a hatchet in some manner and came near splitting my head open with it. It was some time before he recovered from the attack."

"It is absolutely necessary to protect the eyes in some way. I wore a black slouch hat pulled down over my eyes. In addition we donned goggles manufactured by the Indians, which fulfill the purpose for which they are intended. These are made of bits of wood, oval shaped, like the glasses of spectacles. They have small slits in them, so that one can see, but the eye is shaded and not affected." —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

GUNS, RAMS AND TORPEDOES.

Some Debateable Matters in the Methods of Modern Marine Warfare.

We know that the bigger the gun the less likely it is to hit the target, but, again, our data only suggest that the best possible line in a mean—a mean that is left to individual opinion—is to use the 12 inch gun embodied in this mean. Already the French have discarded it for a heavier weapon, and we may look to see other nations following suit.

The ram, tested by results, has proved itself more likely to be fatal by accident than by design. It is the absolute belief in it, opinion gradually changed till it was spoken of as an impossible weapon, and the French, previously so partial to enormous spurs, so far discarded their old ideals as to build their battleship Brocheux without any ram at all. Yet, at the same time, the United States were busy ordering the Katahdin, a ram, pure and simple, which is now in the navy. France is building ram bowed ships once more, and the new second class British cruiser Argonaut and her sisters are short, double ended ships specially designed for use as rams. Where, then, lies the truth about the ram?

The torpedo again forms a debatable hand. With the torpedo vessel I shall deal further on; here we need but consider the ship's torpedo tube. The torpedo is a destructive weapon, but it cannot be used at a range more exceeding a quarter of a mile. At that distance the big gun can hardly miss.

It is the British navy, certainly, that is pulling as any that the less accurate torpedo could effect. Moreover, the slow speed of a torpedo—slow in comparison with a projectile—infinitely increases the risk of damaging a friend instead of the enemy aimed at. Also, every part of the torpedo is heavily armed with explosives, and the torpedo is so constructed that it is likely to be exploded in its tubes long ere they can be employed. So much is the case that the torpedo is becoming a thing of the past. The torpedo alone is being adopted for new designs, while the above water tube is condemned entirely. But submerged tubes are difficult to use. In the British navy, certainly, the deflection of the torpedo caused by the ship's movement has been reduced to a very few degrees, but perfect aim is some distance off. With other nations, the tube, being of cruder design, the deflection is so enormous that a hit at any appreciable range is almost a matter of pure chance.—Forum.

How American Visitors Saw Tenneyson.

Mr. V. C. Scott O'Connor contributes to the Century an article on "Mrs. Cameron, Her Friends and Her Photographs." The following new anecdote of the late laureate is told:

Mrs. Cameron's house at Freshwater, the rendezvous of many distinguished men and women, was in some sort the refuge of many whose hearts were weary. It was to know Tenneyson. In no one else could he have been turned away; none willingly would she have been the host of the feast of life. With Tenneyson she was on terms of friendly intimacy, being in her relationship with him, as in all other matters, a true and loyal friend.

She could and did say anything to him, though always within the limits set by high bred feeling and a heart that was full of the most delicate and delicate of delicacies. One day some American acquaintances of hers, visitors at Freshwater, went up to Farrington in the expectation of seeing Tenneyson, but soon after they returned to Dinwiddie with a rueful tale of disappointment.

"Oh, he won't say you!" she said. "Come with me." She took them straightway to Farrington, entered the open hall door and marched them into the study where Mr. Tenneyson was sitting. His wife was seated. "Alfred," she said, "these strangers come from a far country to see the son of Freshwater"—"was he ever here?"

Tenneyson, ever gentle with his friends, caught her direct humor and broke into a hearty laugh, and while General Smith was pushing his objections to the rector General Lee, with a twinkle in his eyes said to Smith, "General, possibly the magnets which attract your son are not as much as the doctor's eloquence as the doctor's Grace." The point Smith General Smith. —San Francisco Argonaut.

WHAT DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS have done for others they will do for you, if given a fair trial.

From the Montreal, Ont., Monitor.

About two years ago the Monitor procured an interview with Reuben Petch, of Grieraville, in order to ascertain from his own lips if the reports were well founded that he attributed his most astonishing return to health to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The result of the interview was published in the Monitor under the date of Jan. 17th, 1896. Mr. Petch's case was certainly one of the most extraordinary in the annals of medicine in Canada—if not in the world. He had been ill for five years and in that time he consumed no less than six of the best physicians he could find, but none could give him the least relief. His limbs and body were puffed and bloated to such an extent that he could not get his clothes on, and for two years he had not dressed. He had lost the use of his limbs entirely. His flesh seemed to be dead, and pins could be stuck in various parts of his body without being felt or creating the slightest sensation. He could not move about and if he attempted to get up would fall and would have to be lifted up by the neck. His food and his mouth sufficiently to take solid food, and had to be fed with a spoon like a child. The doctors said his trouble was spinal sclerosis, and that he could not possibly get better. He was in fact nothing more or less than an animated corpse, so help that he was a member of the Canadian Mutual Life Association, and was under their rights entitled to disability insurance and made a claim for it. Two doctors, on behalf of the association, were sent to examine him, and they pronounced him incurable and permanently disabled, and in accordance with their report he was paid a disability insurance of $1650.00. This was about two years after his sickness began. For three years more he lingered in the condition above noted, utterly helpless, and a burden to himself and friends. He was then advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He did not hope that they would help him, but in his bad condition he was prepared to grasp at anything that afforded the prospect of even a slight relief. The first change noted in his condition after he began the use of the pills was a disposition to sweat freely. Then his limbs began to return to his hitherto dead body, and from that time on his progress towards recovery and activity was steadily and rapidly made.

The publication of the interview, containing the facts above noted, created unusual interest, not only in this section, but throughout Canada. That a man whose limbs and body were all but dead, who had been examined by medical experts, and pronounced incurable and an animated corpse, of their report was paid a large disability claim, should afterwards be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, was looked upon as a marvel. Many were skeptical and as to the cure—for the fact that he was actively going about proved this—but they did not believe it would be permanent.

In view of the doubts then expressed, the Monitor determined to watch the case closely, and not nearly a year afterwards the cure was fully published, and again interviewed Mr. Petch, with the result that we are in a position to say most emphatically that this remarkable cure has proved permanent. On being again questioned, Mr. Petch said: "You see those three years ago I was in a very bad condition. Once they were laid and without sensation. You could pierce them with a pin and I would not feel it, and what is true of my hands true of the rest of my body. Perhaps you have observed that I have now even ceased to use a cane, and can get about my business perfectly well. You may say that is absolutely no feat, but to my cure being permanent. Indeed I am in even better health than when I gave you the first interview."

"Do you still attribute your cure to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" asked the Monitor.

"Unquestionably I do," was the reply. "Doctors had failed, as had also the numerous remedies recommended by my friends. Nothing took hold the slightest effect upon me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To this wonderful recovery I owe my release from a living death. I have since recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to many of my friends, and the verdict is in their favor. I shall always bless the day I was induced to 'take them.'"

The above are the chief statements made by Mr. Petch in the latest interview, and are the most reliable. We have been in acquaintance with him, that we consider his statements absolutely true and reliable. We have no interest to serve other than to desire to recommend the medicine that has done so much for him, and we feel sure that if any sufferer will write Mr. Petch, enclosing a stamp for reply, he will endorse all the statements made above. We may further add that Mr. Petch's remarkable recovery is a double proof of the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and it seems reasonable to infer that they will do for others what they have done for him—restore health and vitality.

The check at the head of this article is a fac-simile of the one by which Mr. Petch's disability claim was paid and is given in further corroboration of his statements.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

GENERAL GASCOIGNE AND COL. STRATHY'S CRITICISM.

False Reports of the Chilkoot Trail—Clear Manufacturers' Deputation—Prince Edward Island Dairying.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—It is not believed here in official circles that Gen. Gascoigne will attempt to discipline Col. Strathy, commanding officer of the 6th Royal Scots, Montreal, for the press interview in which the General is taken severely to task. It is contended that after reprimanding the Colonel and his Major, Gen. Gascoigne will then press to advertise this fact and to comment on it so as to humiliate them before the public. He then the General in so doing violated rule 133, which says: "Officers and soldiers are not to attempt to prejudicially influence the press to publish, anonymously or otherwise, their opinions," and rule 908, which prohibits "the publication through the press of any statement or anything calculated to act injuriously on the service." Col. Strathy violated these regulations only after the General himself had set the example, and for this reason it is thought the matter will not be further stirred up by the General, though the Minister of Militia, the Hon. Mr. Campbell, N.S., may deem it his own duty to take up the matter. Col. Strathy is an honorary A.D.C. to His Excellency the Governor-General, and his interest in the Chilkoot Trail is, like most of the officers, a personal one. The San Francisco press despatch, dated November 1, reporting twenty deaths on the Chilkoot Trail is, like most of the other news, a fabrication. The information purports to rest on a letter dated at "Shoshone" on October 3, the very date that Major Walsh and party found no difficulty in getting over the trail. A correspondent who passed through Sheep Camp on October 27, came back with a correspondent on Friday and is able to contradict the story. Most of the blood-curdling tales about the Chilkoot Trail must be written by those who were never there. It is tiresome travel to a tenderfoot, but neither dangerous nor very difficult. It is described by papers as a fair mountain trail, and to November 1 presented no great obstacles to men accustomed to outdoor travel. Since the rush began there has been only one death on the Chilkoot Trail, or less than occurs on the main street of a city. Of course in winter it is not worth the winter on this side of the summit is a very mild affair, the sudden snowstorms forming the chief objection. Several colds and a few cases of influenza, the summer is crossed and the dry interior entered.

Rev. Joseph Lofthouse and Mrs. Lofthouse are in the city. Mr. Lofthouse is a Canadian and has been visiting Montreal since he left England about December 1. Mr. Lofthouse has been a student at the University of London, and has been a member of the House of Commons for nine years. In an interview to-day Mr. Lofthouse said: "We left Churchill on the 1st of December, and travelled a week in an open boat along the shore of Hudson Bay and up the river for three weeks in a canoe, sampling at night the scenery of the great Canadian north. We have at intervals during July and August two or three days of fine weather."

Mr. Scillet, the inspector of dairying for the Dominion Department of Agriculture in Prince Edward Island, which were established there by the Dominion Government, and which are now managed by joint stock companies of the farmers themselves, are doing well. The Government has now no responsibility in the management of them. A good number of the cheese factories have twice as large an output as in 1896, and a few of them will manufacture three times as much cheese as they did in 1896. In addition to the cheese factories at which butter was made last winter butter-making plants are now being put into no less than eleven factories for export. The Minister of Agriculture has directed that several sets of other specimens be prepared to be exhibited to poultry men at different centers during the next two weeks.

A deputation of cigar manufacturers and tobacco men are in the capital to-day with reference to the regulations governing the manufacture of cigars and the allowance for diminution of import duty, which usually loses 20 per cent of weight by evaporation. Representatives are here from London, Hamilton and Montreal. They were resolved by Hon. Mr. Patterson and Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere in the latter's office. They also want a rebate of excise duty when the article is exported.

An interprovincial bridge between Ottawa and Hull, between Bank Street and the river, is under way. It is projected for some time a number of the members of the Hull Electric Company have been discussing plans for a proposed bridge, which they have had the plans prepared and already tenders are in for parts of the bridge. The company is applying for incorporation.

The county and city will likely cooperate to introduce the Torrens system of land transfer.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

GENERAL GASCOIGNE AND COL. STRATHY'S CRITICISM.

False Reports of the Chilkoot Trail—Clear Manufacturers' Deputation—Prince Edward Island Dairying.

Ottawa, Nov. 25.—It is not believed here in official circles that Gen. Gascoigne will attempt to discipline Col. Strathy, commanding officer of the 6th Royal Scots, Montreal, for the press interview in which the General is taken severely to task. It is contended that after reprimanding the Colonel and his Major, Gen. Gascoigne will then press to advertise this fact and to comment on it so as to humiliate them before the public. He then the General in so doing violated rule 133, which says: "Officers and soldiers are not to attempt to prejudicially influence the press to publish, anonymously or otherwise, their opinions," and rule 908, which prohibits "the publication through the press of any statement or anything calculated to act injuriously on the service." Col. Strathy violated these regulations only after the General himself had set the example, and for this reason it is thought the matter will not be further stirred up by the General, though the Minister of Militia, the Hon. Mr. Campbell, N.S., may deem it his own duty to take up the matter. Col. Strathy is an honorary A.D.C. to His Excellency the Governor-General, and his interest in the Chilkoot Trail is, like most of the officers, a personal one. The San Francisco press despatch, dated November 1, reporting twenty deaths on the Chilkoot Trail is, like most of the other news, a fabrication. The information purports to rest on a letter dated at "Shoshone" on October 3, the very date that Major Walsh and party found no difficulty in getting over the trail. A correspondent who passed through Sheep Camp on October 27, came back with a correspondent on Friday and is able to contradict the story. Most of the blood-curdling tales about the Chilkoot Trail must be written by those who were never there. It is tiresome travel to a tenderfoot, but neither dangerous nor very difficult. It is described by papers as a fair mountain trail, and to November 1 presented no great obstacles to men accustomed to outdoor travel. Since the rush began there has been only one death on the Chilkoot Trail, or less than occurs on the main street of a city. Of course in winter it is not worth the winter on this side of the summit is a very mild affair, the sudden snowstorms forming the chief objection. Several colds and a few cases of influenza, the summer is crossed and the dry interior entered.

Rev. Joseph Lofthouse and Mrs. Lofthouse are in the city. Mr. Lofthouse is a Canadian and has been visiting Montreal since he left England about December 1. Mr. Lofthouse has been a student at the University of London, and has been a member of the House of Commons for nine years. In an interview to-day Mr. Lofthouse said: "We left Churchill on the 1st of December, and travelled a week in an open boat along the shore of Hudson Bay and up the river for three weeks in a canoe, sampling at night the scenery of the great Canadian north. We have at intervals during July and August two or three days of fine weather."

Mr. Scillet, the inspector of dairying for the Dominion Department of Agriculture in Prince Edward Island, which were established there by the Dominion Government, and which are now managed by joint stock companies of the farmers themselves, are doing well. The Government has now no responsibility in the management of them. A good number of the cheese factories have twice as large an output as in 1896, and a few of them will manufacture three times as much cheese as they did in 1896. In addition to the cheese factories at which butter was made last winter butter-making plants are now being put into no less than eleven factories for export. The Minister of Agriculture has directed that several sets of other specimens be prepared to be exhibited to poultry men at different centers during the next two weeks.

A deputation of cigar manufacturers and tobacco men are in the capital to-day with reference to the regulations governing the manufacture of cigars and the allowance for diminution of import duty, which usually loses 20 per cent of weight by evaporation. Representatives are here from London, Hamilton and Montreal. They were resolved by Hon. Mr. Patterson and Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere in the latter's office. They also want a rebate of excise duty when the article is exported.

An interprovincial bridge between Ottawa and Hull, between Bank Street and the river, is under way. It is projected for some time a number of the members of the Hull Electric Company have been discussing plans for a proposed bridge, which they have had the plans prepared and already tenders are in for parts of the bridge. The company is applying for incorporation.

The county and city will likely cooperate to introduce the Torrens system of land transfer.
